DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement filed 04/19/04 has been considered and scanned into the application file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over EP 799,712 A1.

EP'712 teaches a composition or a cured product therefrom, useful for ink jet recording, wherein the composition or cured product therefrom contains at least (A) a polyvinyl acetal resin, (B) a monomer having an active energy ray curable ethylenic unsaturated group, which includes N-vinyl pyrrolidone and N-vinyl caprolactam, (C) a cationic resin at a ratio of (B)/(A) within the range of 1/100 to 5/1 and a ratio of (C)/((A) + (B)) of 0.5/100 to 30/100 and (D) other conventional additives. See the Abstract, pages 4-7, the Runs and claims of EP'712. EP'712 therefore anticipates the instantly claimed invention with the understanding that the component (B) genus is sufficiently small enough to engender anticipation of the species as provided for under the guise of In re Schaumann, 572 F.2d 312, 316, 197 USPQ 5, 9 (CCPA 1978).

Even if it turns out that the instantly claimed invention is not anticipated, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to extrapolate, from the disclosure of EP'712, the polyvinyl acetal having N-vinylamide monomer units in the molecule, as claimed, as per such having been within the purview of the general disclosure of EP'712 and with a reasonable expectation of success. As to the dependent claim limitations, if not taught or suggested by the disclosure of EP'712, the limitations would have been obvious to the skilled artisan and with a reasonable expectation of success.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 799 712 A1 in combination with EP 1,384,730 A1.

EP'712 is relied on for all that is taught as applied to claims 1-7 as stated in the Grounds of Rejection supra per paragraph no. 5. Further, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to use the polyvinyl acetal-containing composition of EP'712 as a binder for ceramic forming and ceramic green sheet therefrom as per EP'730 who teach the commonality of using similar such polyvinyl acetal resins as binders for ceramic forming and for ink or paint and with a reasonable expectation of success. See the Abstract of EP'730.
